VETO FOR THE CARNIVAL

Four-Masted Schooner Glidden, Which Went Ashore on the North Carolina Coast Has Gone to Pieces-The Crew Not Heard From.

Gates and a party of New York friends, including several ladies, arrived here this morning from Jacksonville aboard Mr. Gates' private car on the Seaboard Ali Line Rallway. James M. Barr, of the Seaboard, met him at the train and escorted his party to the Seaboard tug Dorothea, on which the party was taken over the harbor to the payy-yard and down Hampton Roads. The presence of ladies in the party robs the visit of the great manipulator of business significance. Nevertheless, Mr. Gates expressed the desire to become acquainted with the transportation and deep water terminal facilities of this port, of which he has heard so much. of the streets for th purpose of holding a street carnival.

The Mayor did not give as reasons for disapproving the ordinance, but stated that he will give them at a later time. It is not thought that the ordinance can be passed over the veto of the Mayor, even if the promoters of the enterprise should decide to make a fight.

The almost unanimous disapproval of the carnival by the business men of the sity, which developed after the ordinance was passed by the Council, has demonstrated that the people do not want the carnival, and that it would be a failure.

JEALOUSY CAUSES TROUBLE.

Z. H. Duffy was in the Police Court this morning on the charge of cutting Robert M. Baker with his pocket-knife. He saw his wife with Baker last night and immediately attacked him with the knife. After recovering from his rage and finding that his friend was not seriously injured, and assisting him to his home, Duffy surrendered himself to the police. Only a short examination was held this morning, after which Justice Taylor sent the case on to the Corporation Court for trial. Duffy gave a bond of $500 for his appearance on Saturday in the Corporation Court, with J. B. Powell as surety, and was released. Z. H. Duffy is a lumber inspector in the employ of the Posburgh Lumber Company. Baker and Duffy have been friends, but Duffy has warned Baker not to pay attentions to Justice Taylor heard the case of the young girl, Bessie Behrman, who left her babe in the park last week, in the Police Court this morning, and committed the infant and the mother to the care of Airs, Behrman, the mother of the girl. The girl said that she did not intend to abandon the infant, but left it while she sought to reconcile her mother to the acquisition of a grandchild. There were no charges against the girl, and as the mother took the child the Justice dismissed the ease.

Stephenson, to was charged with two offenses, that who was charged with two offenses, that of selling liquor on Sunday and selling liquor without a license. He was accused of running the Magnolia Social Club in Nicholson Street. He explained that the Magnolia was a literary club. Justice Taylor asked what the literary pursuits of the members were, "We have the daily papers and sometimes get a novel," kald the defendant. "One hundard the literary pursuits of the work of the second se dred dollars and costs in each case," said the Justice. The case against J. T. Lewis was not so complicated. The charge was was not so complicated. The charge was that of keeping his bar open on Sunday or of selling liquors on Sunday. The excuse was that the Washington House is open as a restaurant. The judgment was $100 and costs. There was an appeal to the Corporation Court in all three cases. So the crusade goes on; so does the drinking, in one way or another.

At the meeting of the Board of Health this afternoon the subject of individual drinking cups for the schools was con-sidered. The proposition is the result of the suggestion of C. H. Bull, a member of the suggestion of C. H. Bull, a member of the City Councils, who introduced a resolution that was referred to the Board of Health for consideration. The cost of providing separate cups for the children of the public schools will be about $500, which must be appropriated by the Councils, because the School Board will declure that it has no more than enough money for uses other than ordinary expenditures. The suggestion is made that the parents provide their children with cups, as the cost to them would be inconsiderable, while the city will provide only for those who are not able to buy their own cups. Another question is, what is the actual danger from common drinking cups? Have any children become-sick or infected?

R. W. Woodley & Co. was thrown into involuntary bankruptey this morning by petition to the United States District Court of Julius King Optical Company, of New York; E. A. Cowan & Co., Boston, and the Reglina Music-Box Company, of New York. The debts of these creditors are respectively, as follows: $350, $190.25, and $1510.85. All of these debts are for notes past due. Some business men assign the cause of the failure of R. W. Woodley to his removal from Main Street of Granby at the beginning of the year. That, however, may have been only one if the evidences of the failing business.

The evidence showed that Tinsley was in the crowd of negroes who beat the sallors, of gold German coin lost by one of the victed him.

Ben Powell, the negro who was acquitted yesterday of the charge of robbing the saliors, was arrested this afternoon by the Bloodfield police, and is now being held in the Bloodfield lockup. The county authorities claim that the city authorities did not have jurisdiction in the case, although the robbery occurred within a mile of the city limits, and declare that they will try Powell as though he had never been acquitted by the Corporation Court.

When Powell's case was taken up yesterday morning his attorneys raised the claim that the court did not have jurisdiction, and when Judge Barham overlied the claim, they declared, that they would fight the point out in the Supreme Court. Notwithstanding the fact that they took this position, the attorneys say now that they will apply to Judge Barham for a writ of habeas corpus, compelling the Bloodfield authorities to release their client, claiming that they have no right to put him in jeopardy twice for the same offense.

STANDING QUESTIONED.

There was an unusual and highly sensational scene in the Police Court this morning, when J. T. Newsome, a colored attorney, raised the question of the right of C. H. Robinson, the colored mugistrate of Bloodfield, to practice at the bar of Newport News, basing his contention on the order of Judge Peek, of Warwick county, in taking away from Robinson his license to practice law, following his conviction on a felony charge some years ago. After most seathing attacks on each other by both lawyers, winding up with an elonquent deferse of his own position by Attorney Newsome, Police Justice Brown decided that enough evidence had been produced to warrant him in obliging

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BLACKSTONE, VA., March 1 report having been circulated for some days past that Rev. James Cannon, Jr., principal of the Femaie Institute at this place, would probably be a candidate for the Lexislature, to succeed Hon. R. G. Southall, resigned, your correspondent called upon him last night to learn from him if such was the case. In reply he stated that while he had been strongly urged by friends from the different sections of the two counties to become a report having been circulated for some candidate, and after giving the matter careful consideration, he had positively decided not to enter the race.

When asked why he had reached that decision he replied that his only reason was the position he occupied, with respect to his school and the obligations that entailed upon him. He did not feel that he could discharge his duties to his school while serving in the Legislature. He further stated that the simple fact of his being a minister did not enter into the consideration at all; that he folt that a minister could, and some times should, take interest in public affairs, to the point of holding office, with inpunity. Many regrets are heard by those who had urged the candidacy of Mr. Cannon at his final decision not to become one. The Courfer, the local paper here, takes the opposite view, and in an editorial to-morrow will congratulate him, upon the decision he has reached.

Virginia and Maryland Oyster Police Enforcing the Laws.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
ALEXANDRIA, VA., March 19.—The officers of the police boats of Maryland and Virginia are vigorously enforcing the laws the States, which forbid the taking of taken in charge by the crew of the suppahannook.

On the Maryland side of the river the Maryland oyster police boat Governor Thomas Monday arrosted the masters of three vessels, on which seed oysters were found, and took them into Rock Point, of the Wicomico River, for trial.

The laws of the States impose a heavy fine and imprisonment for violations of the oyster laws regarding the taking of seed oysters, and the men under arrost are to be prosecuted and punished. A determined effort is to be made to put a stop to the depletion of the Potomac oyster beds.

SPRUNG A SURPRISE

Newport News Raises Licenses on Retall Liquor Dealers.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEWPORT NEWS, VA., March 19.—
The Finance Committee of the Common Council sprung a surprise on the saloon element to-night, when it reported the licensa ordinance for the current year. The price of liquor licenses was nearly doubled. The action of the committee was taken several nights ago, but the matter was kept under cover as a carefully guarded secret, and the liquor men had no intimation of the proposed increase until the ordinance was read on the floor of the Council. The retail license was increased to $350, and other license was increased to $500, and other licenses in proportion. The license on circuses also was doubled, the amount being fixed at $200 per day. Undertakers were increased from $25 to $50. After a warm discussion of the items the Council endorsed the action of the committee and adopted the ordinance. element to-night, when it reported the
